Speaker: Special Agent, FBI, Frederick Simon,
InfraGard, Los Angeles Office

Special Agent Simon stated that InfraGard was set up to aid in the protection of our critical infrastructure. They provide networking, vulnerability assessments and free training in recognizing and reacting to various types of threats. Their free training includes recognizing and responding to cyber threats, active shooter, and an extensive list of threats covered in other available classes. He gave an example where a suspicious clerk in Colorado prevented a bombing in New York. He also cited that 85% of their leads they follow up come from the general public, who spotted things that just didn't look right.
